

---

Strategic Partners

---

Many universities are moving towards fewer but better partnerships.

Charles University has been paying special attention to developing relations with a narrowly defined group of universities called strategic partnerships since 20

In 2018 Charles University founded Centre for Strategic Partnerships as a part of International Relations Office.

The term “strategic partnerships” inevitably involve much deeper cooperation, high frequency of long term activities, potential for developing the Universities' third

